

Coming Home

The past few months I spend time doing things I thought I had to do ... no worries And every move I made I was afraid and all I did was blame you ... I'm sorry

I had my reasons they were sad but looking back they were all I had Yes they were mine and didn't seem to be so stupid at the time

Too many dreams never came true They're like the people that I knew ... distraction
And all these worlds I did explore Obscuring pain and even more ... affection

I'm not completely rearranged but honestly I know I'm changed Despite the problems yet to face this is our child I wanna raise if you'll have me

I come home ... I come home
I want to stay forever if you let me
I come home ... I come home and it's now or never if you want me
